Appreciate your understanding.

Most applications require school transcripts and examination verification, those must come directly from the school or examination organization. Applicants can get those ordered and sent to DOH as soon as they know they plan to apply. This will help if documents are here when their application is received.

Additionally, applicants should be on the look out for emails from DOH, this is our primary way of communicating with applicants. Sometimes our emails end up in spam or junk folders. These emails will provide details of information needed to complete applications.

Have a great day.

Thank you for sharing the concerns related to processing times for issuing credentials.

Our staff have been working to process applications as quickly as possible. Over the past year we have been evaluating our processes to improve efficiencies. Currently, our division is going through a significant data system change as our licensing database has been out of date for many years and the new system has required multiple hours of training in preparation for it's launch, scheduled for Tuesday, April 29th. This may have slowed processing times recently.

We do depend on applicants to provide us documents to complete applications, and many times, this is the area where we find extended processing times, waiting for those required documents. Timely response from applicants assist staff in processing applications.

I did pull several statistics hoping this will provide you with a little insight into our data.

- Occupational Therapist and occupational therapy assistants – we receive an average of 44 applications per month, in March, 68 credentials were issued.
- Physical therapist and physical therapist assistants – we receive an average of 117 applications per month, in March, 119 credentials were issued.
- Speech language pathologist and speech language pathologist assistants – we receive an average of 46 applications per month, in March, 36 credentials were issued.

We do have pending applications where deficiencies have been communicated directly to applicants and continue to process all applications. Employers often do not receive this information from the applicants/employees.

Please reach out to me if there are specific applicants we can research the status of their application.

Please note: Our licensing system will be down Friday, April 25 and 28th, for the migration of our new system being implemented on Tuesday, April 29th. We will be unable to process any applications during those days.

Thanks again.

Yes, I can be your point of contact within Office of Health Professions (OHP) and forward your emails to someone who can answer questions I cannot.

For this matter, do you know which specific professions are reporting delays? That will help get your message to the right profession and credentialing team within OHP.

Hello Stacy,

I hope you are doing well today.

I do not think I have had the chance to meet you yet; I am Amanda, and I work with Children and Youth with Special Healthcare Needs team at DOH. Apart of my role is the managing the contracts for all the Neurodevelopmental Centers of Excellence (NDC) in Washington. Lately I have had heads of therapy centers reach out to me about the delays they are experiencing. They say- "we are experiencing long licensing delays for our therapists. In some cases, up to 4 months."

Are you the best person to reach out into regard to these delays, if not who should I reach out to? If you are, is there anything I can do to assist you or your team?

Please let me know.

Subject: 05-12-25 How to request a new license to be printed

Hi Team,

I received answers back to your questions regarding printed licenses. Very clear and helpful answers! Please let me know if you have any additional questions. Thanks!

- If the applicant wants US to print the license, they need to go through the call center and pay for it?
  - They can request this in their portal and pay the fee in the portal, or mail a request with a check for the fee, or the call center could take the payment.

- As for applicants who have an active license prior to HELMS, their license did not generate in HELMS for them to print. Do those request go to the call center?
  - Any internal staff can push the button “Generate Credential PDF” and once it is generated the licensee can go to there portal and see and print the license. By clicking on “Download Credential” button next to their credential.
- What if they don't have a SAW account because they mailed a paper app? Do they get mailed a license or how do they request one?
  - If they provided us an email address on the paper application then they will get an email when the credential is issued and the email will give them a link to SAW and tell them to go to their portal and print or view their credential. We are not printing and mailing their license unless they request and pay for it.

- Below is an example of the email.

Thank you for reaching out with this question. The HELMS system is set up differently than ILRS and we will not be printing the licenses unless a licensee requests a duplicate copy and pays for it. Some of this will need to be determined by business as to what the process is. After discussing this with our Hyper Care team, we wanted to make sure that supervisors/leads who are issuing credentials or changing statuses or correcting CE due date understand that they will need to go into the document log attached to credential and make themselves the owner of the credential template that was generated that is incorrect, and then delete it. They will also need to click on the generate credential PDF button and create a new license. That way the correct license is available in the portal for the licensee to print themselves.

Board of Hearing and Speech CR-101 filed for chapter 246-828 WAC

The Board of Hearing and Speech (board) filed WSR 25-12-078 on June 2, 2025, a CR-101 for chapter 246-828 WAC. The board is considering amendments to WAC 246-828-025, 246-828-090, 246-828-095, 246-828-100, 246-828-320, 246-828-330, and other sections in chapter 2486-282 WAC related to prescription hearing aids and hearing test requirements. The board is considering addressing telepractice for initial fittings of hearing aids and considering how recent the hearing tests must be when fitting prescription hearing aids.

As part of the rulemaking process, the Department of Health (DOH) and the board welcomes your participation in a rulemaking workshop on July 25, 2025. During the workshop we welcome ideas, concerns and general comments on how to better develop regulations pertaining to the proposed amendments.

DOH is holding a hybrid meeting with a physical meeting space at:

SLPA Supervision: Understanding the Requirements

The Washington Administrative Code (WAC) sets clear guidelines for supervising Speech-Language Pathology Assistants (SLPAs). From supervisor qualifications to task restrictions, understanding these regulations ensures compliance and effectiveness in speech-language services.

Mission Statement

To protect the public health, safety and welfare, and to provide for state administrative control, supervision, licensure, certification, and regulation of the practice of hearing and speech services.

Board Meetings

Meetings begin at 9 a.m. unless noted

Find out what requires direct supervision, what tasks can be performed with indirect oversight, and what SLPAs are strictly prohibited from doing. Plus, learn about the clinical experience requirements for certification.

Jurisprudence Examination: Current Requirements and Upcoming Changes

The jurisprudence examination ensures hearing and speech professionals understand the laws governing their practice. Currently, passing the exam is required for initial licensure as a hearing aid specialist, audiologist, speech-language pathologist, or speech-language pathology assistant.

A new rule is in the works—transitioning the exam from a one-time requirement to an ongoing continuing education obligation. If adopted, professionals would take the exam within their first year of licensure and retake it every three years.

The final step in the rulemaking process has yet to be completed, but updates are expected soon. Stay informed and review current requirements by visiting the Department of Health's licensing pages.

Subject: 06-20-25 ASHA Provisional Licensure & CMS Town Hall
Importance: High

External Email

Good afternoon,

I would like to invite you to a virtual Town Hall to discuss the recent and pressing developments regarding the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) interpretation of "licensure" for speech-language pathologists, particularly its significant impact on provisional licensees and the supervised professional experience.

As you are aware, recent clarifications from CMS have indicated that provisional state licensure does not meet their definition of "licensed" for Medicare Part B provider enrollment and billing purposes. This interpretation has immediate and far-reaching implications. We would like to share our insights as well as learn from you as we navigate this complex issue. We believe that by working together, we can effectively advocate for a resolution that protects our profession and ensures uninterrupted access to vital SLP services for all.

Town Hall Details:

- Date: June 25, 2025
- Time: 2:00 PM EDT
- Platform: Zoom
- Registration Link: https://asha.zoom.us/meeting/register/TuaGPqu4TRqGzSfTy7nnGg

We encourage Executive Directors, Agency Staff and Board Members to attend.

We look forward to collaborating with you on this important matter.

Best,

Subject: 06-26-25 Js to SLP Kendall Speer

We're writing to you because we understand you're experiencing a delay with your credential application. We sincerely apologize for the inconvenience.

The SLP Interim Permit SLPI.SI.61571267 has been extended to 10/31/25. The SLP license SLP.LL.70013828 application was received on June 3rd and our staff are working through all applications received.

Kendall can verify and print the permit through our new HELMS portal. Healthcare Enforcement and Licensing Management System (HELMS) | Washington State Department of Health. Additionally, you can verify the credential using our provider credential search through our website Search.

Our organization is currently facing significant operational pressures due to the peak graduation season coinciding with our transition to the Healthcare Enforcement and Licensing Management System (HELMS). These two events have resulted in high call volumes and unavoidable disruptions to our standard credentialing processes. HELMS is a complex and critical upgrade to our credentialing process, and while a transition of this size is challenging, the system does offer near-term improvements (a user portal where you can track and manage your credentials) and long-term results (data security, digital documentation, and centralized information).

Please know that we're actively working to address these challenges, and our immediate priority is the applicant experience. We appreciate your patience as we work through these challenges.

Please be sure to keep your contact information updated using the new portal option and check spam or junk folders for emails from Department of Health.

Yes back in the day….we did call them Red Jackets. I remember because they came to us in a red folder with a routing slip on them…hahaha

I think they call them legislative inquiry now OR exec correspondence.

You can keep track, but our operations team keeps official track now. I also save a copy so I can access quickly for things like this were we took care of it, but by the time the legislative inquiry comes in, we are done….

For this one, it was not "red jacket" because email came directly from applicant on Monday, then by today, we got legislative inquiry. That is what is tracked.

MESSAGE:

Dear Senator McCune, My name is Danielle Kline, and I'm a recent graduate of Pacific University. I've fulfilled all requirements to begin work as a Speech-Language Pathologist Clinical Fellow here in Washington. I submitted my licensure application to the Washington State Department of Health on May 16th, 2025, and as of today, June 27th, 2025, over six weeks later, it still shows as "pending." There has been no update, no communication, and no estimated timeline provided. Because of this delay, I've had to push back my start date four separate times, and I'm now facing serious financial strain, including the inability to pay my rent. Like many other recent graduates, I've done everything required of me. I'm ready to begin work in a state that needs healthcare providers, but I can't move forward until my license is approved. I'm not the only one. Many others across Washington, including mental health counselors and nurses, are reporting similar delays. Some have already been waiting months and are now being told it could take even longer. These delays are not just impacting professionals. They are directly preventing patients across the state from receiving services they need. This is a critical workforce issue that deserves urgent attention. I am respectfully asking you to: -Bring legislative attention to the growing backlog of healthcare licenses -Urge the Department of Health to provide clear, transparent processing timelines -Advocate for temporary licensing or expedited approvals for qualified and ready-to-work professionals Thank you for your time and for advocating on behalf of your constituents. I truly appreciate any support you can offer to help move this process forward, not only for myself, but for countless other healthcare workers eager to serve their communities. Credential: Speech-Language Pathologist Interim Permit License Number: SI70007468 Sincerely, Danielle Kline [redacted] danielledkline@gmail.com

To Whom it May Concern,

I hope this message finds you well. I am writing to urgently follow up on the status of the licensure for a Speech-Language Pathologist working at our clinic. It is my understanding that the application for licensure was submitted mid-May after the therapists completion of the board certification requirements and clinical fellowship hours. As of today, the therapists interim permit has expired, leaving her unable to legally continue practicing despite having fulfilled all required steps to receive a speech language pathology license through the state of Washington. Over the past several days, we have reached out to the licensing department, the program manager, and the board of hearing and speech, however, we are still in need of assistance.

We understand that processing times can vary and that the department manages a high volume of applications. However, this delay is now beyond our control and is directly impacting both the therapists ability to work and the continuity of care for our patients. If the therapists interim permit is not extended or the professional license approved, the care that is provided to these individuals will be interrupted, which can have significant consequences, especially for those requiring timely intervention for developmental, neurological, or rehabilitative needs. Knowing that the department is still working on processing applications from April 12, 2025, it is anticipated that our therapists license approval could still be delayed for at least several more weeks.

The therapists name is Katelyn Hartley, CF-SLP. Her pending license number is LL70017019 and her interim permit number is SI61570593.

We are respectfully requesting any update on the possibility of obtaining an extension of the therapists interim permit, so that she may continue to serve our patients while the board works to process applications in the order they were received. We are completely aware that the delay is beyond the control of the department and that they are working diligently to overcome the backlog they are experiencing.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Dear Katelyn,

We're writing to you because we understand you're experiencing a delay with your credential application. We sincerely apologize for the inconvenience.

Our organization is currently facing significant operational pressures due to the peak graduation season coinciding with our transition to the Healthcare Enforcement and Licensing Management System (HELMS). These two events have resulted in high call volumes and unavoidable disruptions to our standard credentialing processes. HELMS is a complex and critical upgrade to our credentialing process, and while a transition of this size is challenging, the system does offer near-term improvements (a user portal where you can track and manage your credentials) and long-term results (data security, digital documentation, and centralized information).

Please know that we're actively working to address these challenges, and our immediate priority is the applicant experience. We appreciate your patience as we work through these challenges.

We have confirmed your Speech Language Pathologist Interim Permit, SLPI.SI.61570593, was extended July 7, 2025. Your new expiration date is October 31, 2025. You can verify and print your license through our new HELMS portal. Healthcare Enforcement and Licensing Management System (HELMS) | Washington State Department of Health. Additionally, you can verify your license using our provider credential search through our website Search.

Please let us know if you have any questions.

Thank you.

Hey KB,

Here is the newsletter draft with Taylor's article. I mulled over the hearing aid specialist practical exam update article for a long time and struggled to put it together. I could only find information on the current exam. I think the board was looking for how the exam has improved, so I decided to leave the article out. I'm happy to work with Amberkiah on the next one!

Supporting Recovery and Safe Practice: An Introduction to WRAMP

The Washington Recovery and Monitoring Program (WRAMP) is a confidential referral and monitoring initiative designed to support credentialed healthcare professionals whose practice may be impaired by substance use. Administered by the Department of Health, WRAMP plays a role in safeguarding public health while promoting recovery and professional reintegration.

WRAMP is not a treatment provider, but rather a structured program that facilitates early identification, evaluation, and monitoring of professionals experiencing substance use challenges. Participants enter into a contract that includes:

- Comprehensive evaluation by a certified substance use disorder treatment provider
- Compliance with all recommended treatment plans
- Random drug and alcohol testing
- Participation in peer support and recovery-oriented groups
- Worksite monitoring to ensure safe return to practice

For licensed health professionals, WRAMP offers a pathway to recovery that prioritizes both personal well-being and professional accountability. The program's mission is threefold: to protect the public from impaired practice, to encourage recovery, and to retain skilled practitioners in the healthcare workforce.

In addition to direct support for participants, WRAMP provides training in workplace identification and intervention, consultation services for employers and professional associations, and outreach to promote awareness of substance use issues in healthcare settings.

To learn more or to access WRAMP services, visit the Department of Health's WRAMP page.

Medicare Updates Definition of Speech-Language Pathologist: What Providers Need to Know

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) has recently updated the definition of a qualified speech-language pathologist (SLP) in Chapter 15 of the Medicare Benefit Policy Manual (MBPM), aligning it with longstanding federal regulations. This change, effective January 1, 2025, has important implications for providers who deliver outpatient services to Medicare Part B beneficiaries.

Key Changes to the Definition

- The updated manual now requires SLPs to hold a full state license to qualify for Medicare Part B billing.
- Provisional, temporary, or limited licenses – including those held by Clinical Fellows (CFs) – do not meet the definition of "licensed" unless explicitly stated.
- The previous allowance for individuals in their supervised clinical fellowship year has been removed. The Certificate of Clinical Competence (CCC) is no longer listed as a qualification criterion.

Background and Timeline

- Although CMS finalized this definition in the 2015 Home Health Prospective Payment System rule, it was not widely publicized until May 2025, when CMS issued MLN Matters article MM13922.
- This update was intended to ensure consistency across all outpatient therapy settings and clarify provider qualifications.

Impact on Providers

- Licensed SLPs who are already enrolled in Medicare do not need to take any action.
- Clinical Fellows and provisional license holders are now ineligible to bill Medicare Part B independently. Employers must ensure that services provided by these individuals are supervised and billed under a fully licensed SLP.
- Healthcare professionals should be aware of these changes, especially when collaborating with CFs or managing outpatient billing workflows.

For more details, you can view the official CMS MLN article MM13922 and ASHA's Q&A on the 2025 Medicare Part B Updates.
